City and Islington College

About the role:

The role will be based in the Engineering Department in the Centre for Applied Sciences on our Angel campus. We are looking to appoint a part-time permanent Engineering Lecturer to teach on level 3 BTEC courses and act as a course tutor as required by the Curriculum Leader for Engineering.

The main duties will include teaching and assessing BTEC Engineering subjects (e.g. Further Maths, Engineering Drawing (AutoCAD), Fluid Mechanics, Primary Forming, Health and Safety) up to Level 3.

About you:

You will hold an Honours Degree in an Engineering related subject with demonstrable experience of teaching engineering qualifications. You will also hold, or be willing to obtain a recognised teaching qualification. You will be used to maintaining professional and quality standards, and keeping high quality documentation.

About us:

We are the largest college group in London. Our colleges include City and Islington College, Westminster Kingsway College, and The College of Haringey, Enfield and North East London. We are committed to success through equality and diversity.

About City and Islington College:

City and Islington College is the first choice Further Education College for thousands of young people and adults across London. It achieves excellent academic results year on year for its students and creates pathways to careers for people of all ages.

City and Islington College is a learning environment like no other. The College is a leader in its field and has been honoured with many prizes and awards. If you want to stretch your own talents in a supportive environment with continuous staff training and development then City and Islington College could be the place for you.

We celebrate the diversity of our students and staff and work hard to ensure an environment where everyone is treated with dignity and respect. As London's leading college our commitment to equality and diversity will help ensure we are the first choice for students, staff, employers and partners.
