Oaklands College

We are looking to recruit an outstanding Lecturer in Engineering to join the team. If you have a genuine passion for engineering, are relentless in your pursuit of quality and want to help shape both the current and future workforce, then we want to hear from you. The successful candidate would be required to teach on a range of Engineering programmes at Level 2, 3, 4 and delivering a range of subjects including CAD. We deliver a range of apprenticeship programmes, full time level 2 and 3, and HNC/D. We also deliver an Extended Degree and BSc programme with the University of Hertfordshire. We have a large number of students and apprentices who attend on full time and day release programmes.

The ideal candidate will have excellent Mechanical Engineering skills and knowledge and ideally experience of delivering BTEC and EAL qualifications. The role will also involve participation in the quality assurance process for part of the Engineering provision. An assessor qualification is desirable but not essential. You will have a genuine regard for young people and want to work with us to ensure that all our students and apprentices aspire to excel. The ability to work in a team is essential, sharing good practice and working collaboratively with colleagues are qualities that we will be looking for.

WHY CHOOSE US:

Oaklands College is a progressive, student-centred College supporting the vibrant community at through a broad, relevant and innovative portfolio of education and training.

Oaklands is a Further Education College based in St Albans and Welwyn Garden City – both campuses are well connected to public transport and motorways.

St Albans Campus is home to award winning facilities set within acres of wide open countryside. Discovery Centre and Sports Zone secured recognition from the Royal Institute of British Architects, a body that aims to recognise buildings that set the standard for great architecture in the UK.

At Welwyn Garden City, our Learning Resource Centre provides students with a modern, spacious environment, ideal for research and studying. We have a new STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths) Centre housing the very latest cyber technology and bespoke science laboratories giving our students the best possible start for a career in the STEM sector.

Culturally, we have regular feedback sessions for employees called Staff Voice that are held with the Principal and key Senior Managers and offers the opportunity for employees to discuss day to day issues around the college and provides them with insights into future plans for the college.

We hold an Investors in People Award and pride ourselves on our strong ethos of inclusion and diversity. Our college community offers opportunities to become a meaningful part of the wider community through enrichment and extra-curricular activities.
